3. Register through any of the apps, or use an existing Honda ID.

4. On your iPhone, select Settings, then turn on Bluetooth.
5. On the Display Audio screen, select the Settings icon, Bluetooth Device List, then Add Bluetooth Device.

- Using the HondaLink iOS Cable Kit, connect the HDMI® and USB cables to the inputs below the Display Audio panel, then to the Lightning AV Adapter. Next, connect the adapter to the iPhone.

- Push the Civic's red ENGINE START/STOP button, touch the CONNECT icon on the Display Audio screen, then select "Allow" on your iPhone when prompted.

Helpful hints

(Ensure you are safely in Park while connecting your iPhone.)

iPhone cannot connect with the Display Audio system while locked. Unlock your phone before connecting.

iPhone may disconnect from Display Audio due to notifications. Stop in a safe location and close the pop-up to reconnect. To minimize interruptions, modify your iPhone's notification settings to None or Banners.

iPhone must request permission to connect with Display Audio. To ensure authorized use, you must select "Allow" each time you connect.
